Anderson. v. Taylor, 149 P.3D 352

(Utah 2006)

Challenge to court practice of letting officers Leave with affidavit in support of search warrant & file it later with the return.

This decision clarifies that documentation is to be kept at the court, to be available to defendants and to guard against potential alteration of documentation.

State. v. Rodriguez (2007)

- Heather is driving on Main Street with a passenger
- Heather turns left into the path of a school bus
- Heather is taken to LDS hospital smelling of alcohol and acting belligerent
- A blood draw is taken without Heather's permission
- Her BAC is .39 – nearly five times the legal limit
- Her passenger is killed
- Heather is charged with 2nd degree felony automobile homicide

State. v. Rodriguez

(Appeal)

The Schmerber case is a similar case from California that set the precedent for warrant blood draws citing exigent circumstances.

“Schmerber does not stand for the proposition that the loss of evidence of a person’s blood-alcohol through the dissipation of alcohol from the body was a sufficient exigency to justify a warrantless blood draw.”

State. v. Rodriguez

The Utah Supreme Court reverses
the Court of Appeals – thus affirming the conviction

State. v. Rodriguez

“In 1966, the Justices of the Supreme Court could not reasonably have foreseen the ubiquity of the cell phone, and only those conversant with the futuristic imaginings of science fiction would have been capable of describing the gadgetry that equips the interior of the typical police cruiser today.”

State. v. Rodriguez

Continued....

“We are confident that, were law enforcement officials to take advantage of available technology to apply for warrants, the significance of delay in the exigency analysis would markedly diminish.”

I'm so awesome that I don't need to really write anything in this space.

Suspect was observed driving while drinking out of a vodka bottle.

A warrant for a blood draw is necessary to prevent the loss of evidence, to wit: through dissipation of the alcohol or any other controlled substance, from the blood.

WHEREFORE, your affiant prays that a Search Warrant be issued for the seizure of said blood at any time day or night, using a reasonable amount of force to obtain the sample.

I declare under criminal penalty of the State of Utah that the foregoing is true and correct.

Spellcheck

The eWarrant system does not have a spellcheck option. If you need to have your writing spellchecked you can use a word processor like Microsoft Word

Internet Browsers

It is highly recommended that you use Google Chrome to access UCJIS and the eWarrant System. If this isn't a viable option for you, Mozilla Firefox will also work. Microsoft Explorer is not a good option as Microsoft is no phasing out the browser.

Things to Remember

ucjis-new.ps.utah.gov
- Current email on file with BCI
- Active UCJIS Login
- EWEL and EWQL Transactions
- eWarrants purge from the system after 20 days or the day after the ROS if it has been on the system for more than 20 days
- If an eWarrant is purged, you will need to contact the court that issued it
- Do not enter information in a field unless you want it to appear that way on the Affidavit
